CHEMICAL SAFETY IN WATER AND WASTEWATER FACILITIES

Chemicals play an important role in many aspects of water and wastewater treatment. Treatment operations fall under many specific regulations that apply to all personnel who work with chemicals or supervise those that do. Developing written safety guidelines that are specific to the worksite is critical for compliance.

Associate Member Connection Guide

Benefits: visibility, warm connections, and being remembered.

The Associate Member Connection Guide will be offered again. This is an electronic networking resource that will be shared with all seminar participants prior to the event, AND will be distributed to all Region 4 members after the event - reaching those that were unable to attend. We will ask you to email spurnell@htmapa.com to submit the following items on or before September 20th:

- Your business card or company logo
- A personalized message introducing your business, or a message of your choice in 100 words or less

This is your chance to: 1) Introduce your business; 2) Highlight how you help others; and 3) spark conversations that continue during - and after - the seminar!
