As an Associate Member of PMAA providing consulting services to Authority's across the Commonwealth, the advantages of being involved with the Association are numerous. The educational opportunities at the Annual Conference, management training sessions, and other specialized training is invaluable and critical to having a solid understanding of my clients' needs.

The network of people that work at Authority's, and the professionals that participate as associate members, are a fantastic resource. Over the years I have built relationships with other Associate members that have allowed us to collaborate to better support the Authority member clients. This includes equipment supplies, engineers, attorneys, software developers and many others that support PMAA through associate membership.
